Jude Devotional Finished

Ta Ethne's commentary on the book of Jude has been finished and should hit the shelves during this month.

We have called this a dynamic commentary for a reason. It is not designed to be a technical commentary, focusing on the Greek definition behind words; rather it focuses on the meaning behind the sentences as a whole. In this way, it can be of great help to both laypeople and biblical scholars.

The central point of the commentary is designed to help show how all doctrines in the Bible are related to one another, and how leaving any of them out as unimportant will lead to the establishment of false teaching inside the church.

We believe that this resource will be a great help to churches across the globe in combating false teachers and belief systems that are in opposition to Holy Scripture. Look for this resource on our website and on Amazon later this month.

180 Project

Now that Dominoes – A Dynamic Commentary on the Book of Jude has been finished and sent to the printers, the 180 Project is hitting center stage.

This project will focus on developing resources dealing with biblical repentance. We believe that this has been an underrepresented concept in today's church and Ta Ethne hopes to sound the clarion call to return to God through repentance. Our plans call for a book, sermon ideas, multimedia presentation outlines and seminars devoted to this subject. One of the stars of the 180 Project will be Zaccheus and his conversion testimony. The Bible is full of teachings on repentance and the 180 Project hopes to shed light on this doctrine in a practical and helpful way.
